LITERACY UNIT

Special Needs for Special Kids

ALSO INCLUDES GOOGLE SLIDES

These literacy units are something I created and started using in my classroom. I had students with significant challenges and most were non-readers .This is a great way to expose all students to some great books.

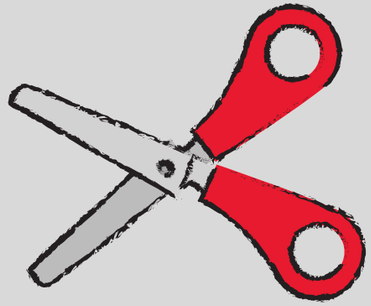
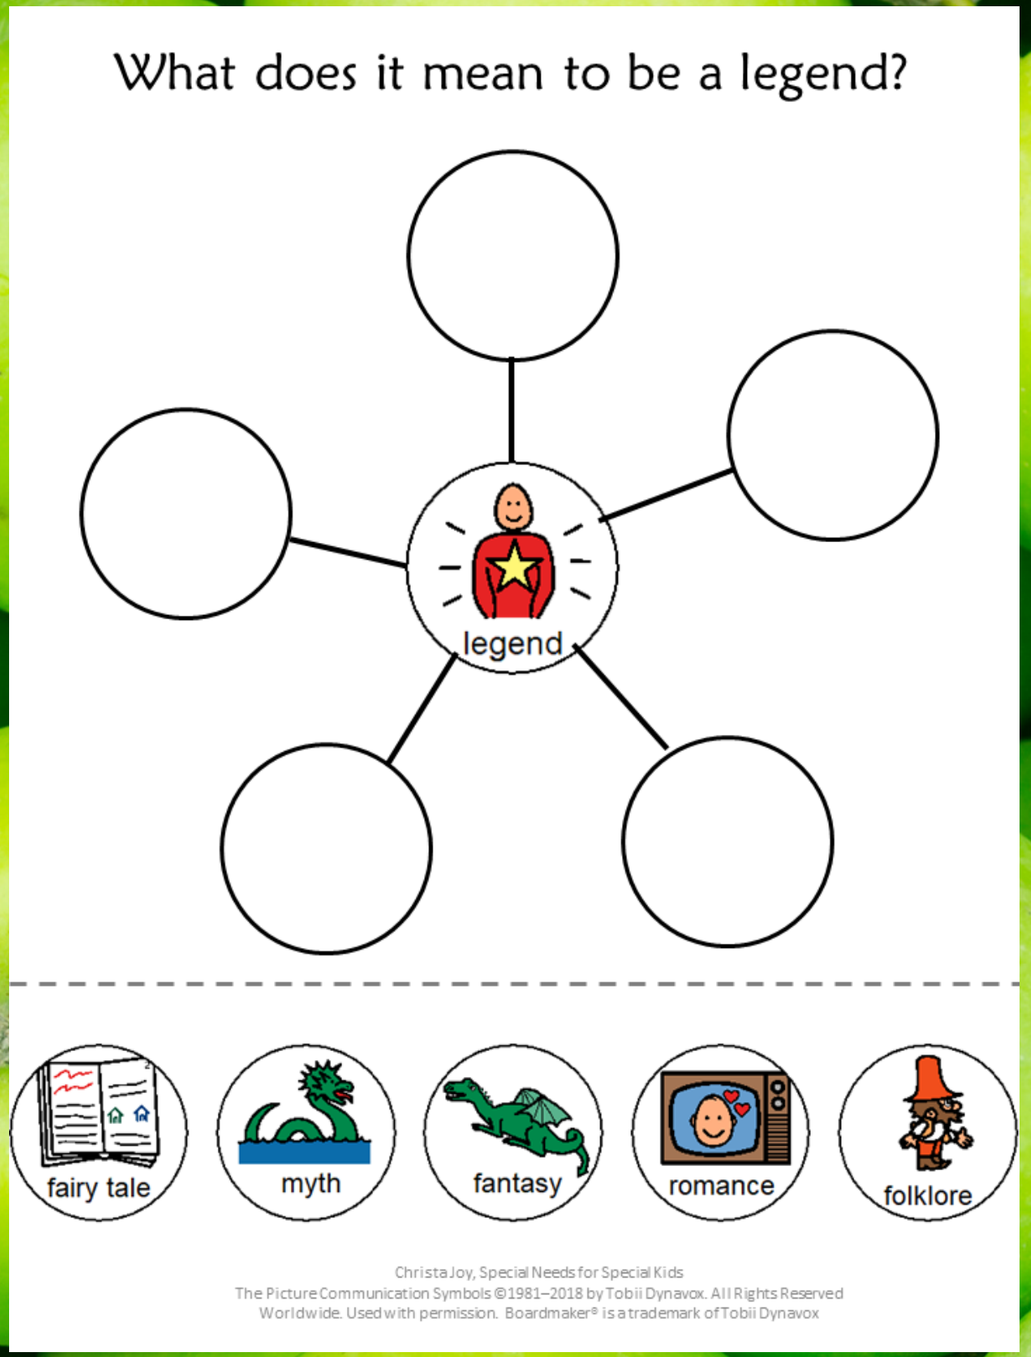
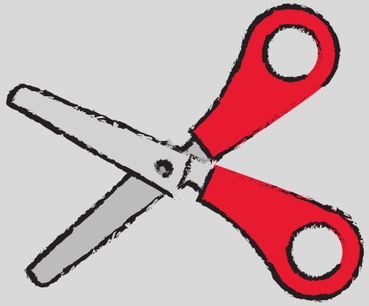
There is a circle map showing things you learn about John Chapman from the book. There is an option that only has correct answers and one that has wrong answers mixed in.





There is a word map, showing students what being a legend means. This is an errorless activity.



John Chapman was very concerned about how his actions affected the Earth. There are a lot of choices we make every day. Some are good for the environment, and some are not. Look at the actions on the next pages and put them in the best column.

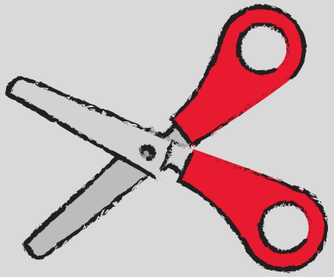
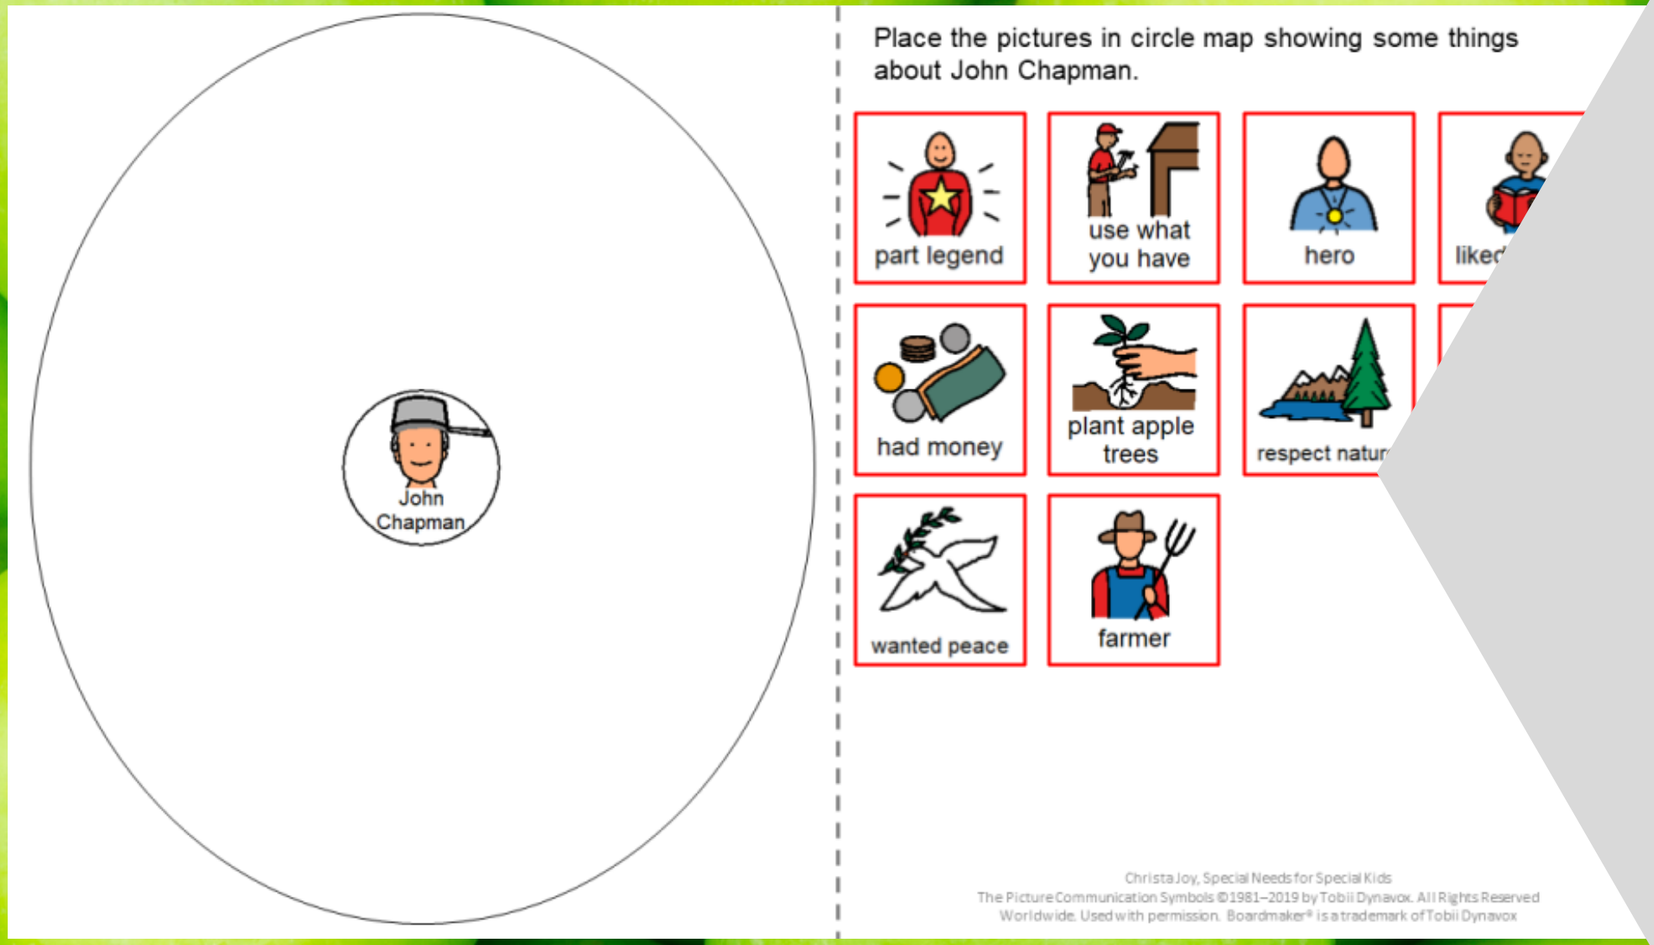
Students will write their own story as though they were planting seeds. This is an errorless activity that allows students to write their own story independently.

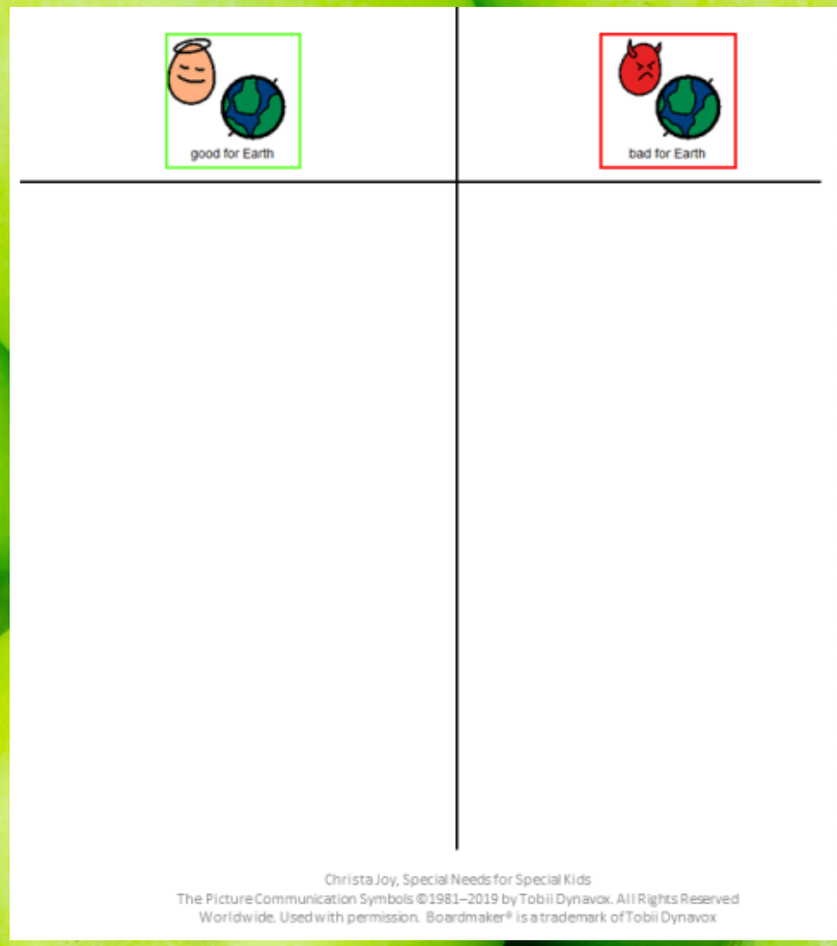


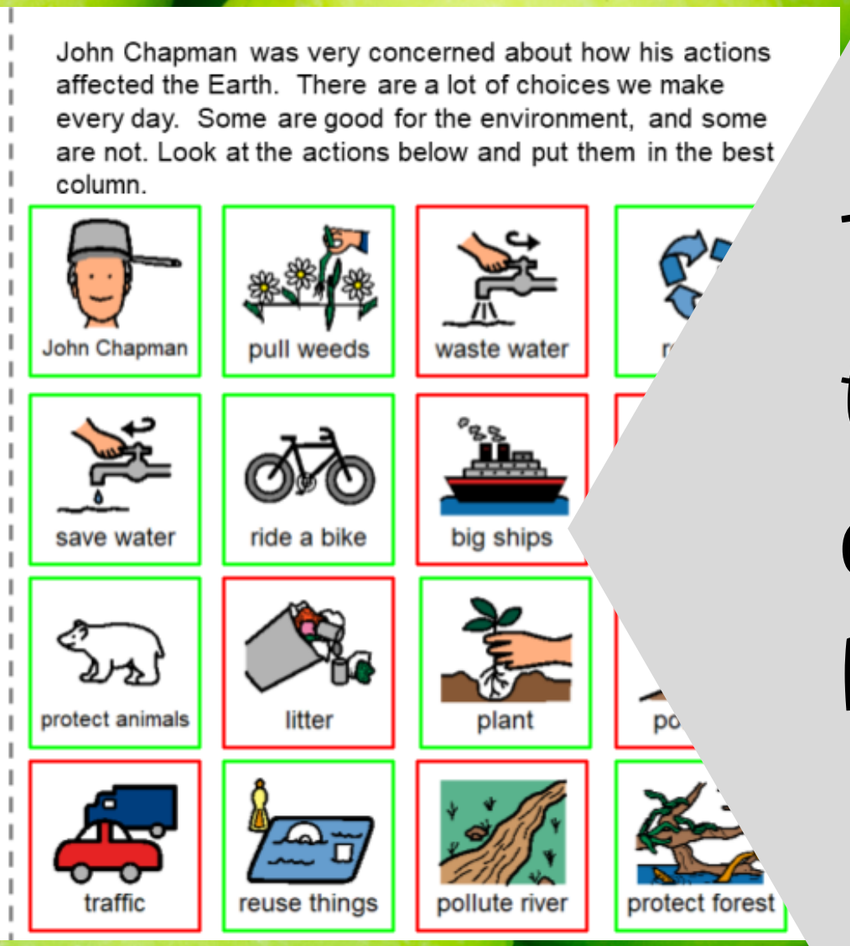
Listen to the book read aloud

There is a video of the book read aloud. This is a video from YouTube.



There are digital versions of the activities included. Students click and drag the answers.





There are 2 sets, one that includes differentiation shown here.

I realize there will be some students out there unable to do cutting activities. I have a blog post with ways to complete activities without a pair of scissors!!
